Recalculating
Proverbs 3:5-6

Three ways to discover and stay on the path God has for you...

1. Trust Him... He _____ where He is going - v.5a

2. Rely on what you _____ know - v. 5b

3. Remember Him in _____ you do - v. 6a

God's promise - v. 6b

To Go

1. Memorize Proverbs 3:5-6.
2. Lay your will on the table this week by acknowledging to God you only want what He wants, even if what He wants isn't what you want.
3. Rather than ask God what is your will for my life, ask what do you want me to do next... and then do it!
4. As you think about the promise in the second half of verse 6, write down the most recent time when God redirected you.

“Recalculating” • Proverbs 3:5-6

Quick Review

The wisdom of Proverbs 3 has saved many from the dangers of living outside God’s will. There is hope and wholesomeness for those who live according to God’s instructions. Verses 5-6 are some of the most popular and frequently memorized verses of this chapter. The chapter begins with a father asking his son to consider the ways of healthy obedience and love for the Lord (1-2). Love and trust for the Lord begins with a trusting heart (3). This trusting heart is established as the son remembers the promises of God resulting in a deep confidence in God’s faithfulness (5-6). Unlike those who trust in political power, riches, and temporary passions the man or woman of God remains confident that God will care for His children.

Why do you think Proverbs 3:5-6 is so often quoted and memorized?

When do you find it most difficult to trust in the Lord like this text talks about?

Isaiah 31:1 provides a terrifying contrast to Proverbs 3:5-6 while Psalm 20 provides a great illustration of 3:5-6 lived out. Why is trust such a significant issue in the Bible?

How does trusting God connect with what we’ve been learning about Genesis 3 and the fall of Adam and Eve?

John 14:1-6 is one illustration of how this idea of trust is developed in the New Testament. 1 John 4:16 gives a vivid picture into how belief and trust are synonymous with Biblical faith. Jesus invites you and me to believe and trust in Him for salvation. See also Ephesians 2:8-9 and Romans 10:9-10.
